Panelists:

Katie Shaw is a highly respected youth mentor, social justice advocate, researcher and facilitator. Katie has worked in a variety of community-based organizations focusing on youth engagement, capacity-building and collaborative community development.

Mike Sheehan designs and delivers a wide range of programs including interactive stage shows, leadership training, workshops and life skills development programs. A central theme to Mike's work is exploring positive solutions to youth-related issues using theatre, visual art, music, games, activities and discussions.

Cole Little is a PhD Student with the School of Child and Youth Care at UVic. Cole's experience working with youth artist-activists from local grassroots organization Youth Combating Intolerance (YCI) has revitalized hope in daunting times. Cole's PhD research is based on collaborative and arts-based inquiry with these youth.
